Environmental Sustainability Policy

Environmental sustainability is integral to our business. As a global provider of legal services, DLA Piper is fully committed to minimising the potentially adverse environmental effects of our own business operations.

We have identified our most significant environmental impacts and contribution to climate change and these are: greenhouse gas emissions from the use of energy in our offices and business travel, the procurement and use of goods and services in our supply chain and the generation and disposal of waste materials to landfill. Through a program of continual improvement and in line with climate science, we are committed to improving our environmental performance.

To meet this commitment we will:

- follow the principles of risk management and sustainability;
- comply with or exceed the regulatory requirements of the jurisdictions in which we operate;
- implement management systems that adhere to high standards of practice;
- pursue reduction targets for our significant environmental impacts to deliver meaningful and progressive reduction in our impact;
- measure and manage the most significant environmental impacts of our operations and report on our performance internally and externally;
- promote resource efficiency and stewardship with the aim to protect the environment, prevent pollution and take action to mitigate the effects of the climate crisis;
- integrate sustainable procurement into our supplier decisions and work with our critical contractors, suppliers and service providers to ensure our suppliers, products and services are consistent with our sustainability commitment and support delivery of our pathway to a 1.5 degree target;
- conduct regular audits, reviews and necessary remedial actions to ensure that our controls are effective and that our objectives and targets are being achieved;
- promote a culture to encourage and enable all of our people and business partners to share this commitment.

We also strive to contribute globally to the United Nations Sustainable Development Goals (UN SDGs) and to address the threats posed by the climate crisis and environmental degradation.

Our commitments and policy define the way we work across all DLA Piper offices and reflect our ambition to be a leader in environmental sustainability:

- among our peers – in managing our own business activities and operational footprint.
- for our clients – in providing legal advice and related services in support of the low carbon transition as well as promoting greater environmental responsibility, sustainability and innovation.

While the overall responsibility for compliance with this policy lies with the executive leadership team, we encourage all people and our business partners to take every opportunity that brings us closer to meeting our commitments.
